Optimising your performance

Here are a few tips designed specifically to help improve your overall performance on the content network:

- Create an Ad Group for each product or service that you are advertising.
- Choose keywords that relate closely to one another and to the ads in the ad group.
- Write clear, compelling ad text to attract users browsing content pages.
- Set content bids for your content network ads.
- Improve your Quality Score and select a competitive maximum CPC bid to maximise your ad exposure.
- Use negative keywords to prevent your ads from appearing on content pages with irrelevant themes.
- Use site exclusion to prevent your ads from appearing on specific content network sites.

For more information and instructions, review our content network success tips.

Tailoring your ads

When you create ads for the content network:

- Include call-to-action phrases, such as 'register now', 'get a free quote', and 'call now'. These phrases can bring life to your ad and help set expectations for the person who is about to visit your site.
- Call attention to any special offers or features available on your site. We have found that advertisers often experience higher ROI on the content network when they include product prices in their ads. The pricing information you provide can help you stand out from competitors and showcase your best deals.
- Link your ad to customised landing pages that match the information in your ad text. For example, if your ad highlights a special deal on mobile phones, make sure that ad directs users to the specific mobile phone page of your site. Make sure that your landing pages are clear and easy to navigate.
